

Facilitation, Collaboration & Conflict Management

Public Policy: Joseph P. McMahon, Manager

Mediating since 1991

M.S. in Civil Engineering

Registered Professional Engineer, Colorado, 1975

Experience in the mediation or facilitation of a wide variety of public policy matters.

Panels, memberships:

CPR Institute on Dispute Resolution

American Arbitration Assn., Energy Panel

American Arbitration Assn., Large and Complex Case Panel

Panel, U.S. Institute for Environmental Conflict Resolution

General experience. I have been working in ADR since my initial mediation training in 1991, and also began service as an arbitrator at that time. In addition to law, I am a registered professional engineer (civil).

Public policy subjects. I have worked in matters or disputes involving, among others, the following:

- Urban growth and growth management policies
- Endangered Species Act
- Funding conservation projects
- Taxes
- Access to public lands
- Condemnation
- Acquisition of land for military use
- River basin planning
- Identification of future water disputes
- Climate change
- Transportation access
- Regional water supply
- Poverty reduction projects
- Land conservation programs

The following are example public policy engagements:

- Facilitator, Boise River basin planning, 2011
- Facilitator, Coeur d'Alene basin planning, 2011
- Edwards Aquifer Habitat Conservation Plan - Facilitator, San Antonio TX 2011
- Facilitator, development of land conservation strategic framework
- Facilitator, research; several poverty reduction programs